

Abstract

A film employed in a liquid crystal display member is disclosed. The film has film thickness of 20 to 60 μm and variation in the film thickness within ± 3.0 percent of the standard film thickness.